

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is directed to a photothermographic element comprising a fine grain silver halide emulsion sensitized with less than about 40,000 atoms of sulfur and less than about 6,000 atoms of gold per square micron
5 of grain surface area.